Profile

Hey there, I'm Ohikhena Joel, a Nigerian undergraduate at Bowen University with a passion for frontend development. I'm enthusiastic about creating successful and responsive websites that prioritize user experience and keep to best practices. Been on this field for the past 1 year and have experience with HTML, CSS and Javascript. Have created multiple projects and worked with multiple UI/UX designers on X.

Professional Experience

Intern

Worked at the core of IHS towers for 3 months that deals with how their entire operations work and things you aren't meant to do. Was at the networking section for most of my internship and spent some time in IT department. Helped them in talking with customers that improved my communication, worked in IT that improved my collaboration with other Tech Enthusiast
